Wollombi Valley Wine Trail

The Wollombi Valley Wine Trail was established to promote the re-emerging boutique vineyards along the Wollombi Brook, which follows part of the Great North Road built by convicts in the early 19th century. The vineyards along the wine trail are small, boutique operations run by owner operators. You will be more than welcome at any of the cellar doors. Each Spring the Wollombi Valley Wine Trail vineyards play host to Sculpture in the Vineyards, when the rows of grapes provide the perfect backdrop for outdoor sculptures of all forms. Wollombi is a peaceful, picturesque village located at the southern gateway to Hunter Valley Wine County, surrounded by National Parks. The relaxing atmosphere hides a wealth of activities and attractions. The valley is rich in colonial history. Enjoy a cafe meal, or take in one of the regular art exhibitions. Visit for a day trip or extend your stay in a range of accommodation, from a B&B or guesthouse to a secluded cottage.

I have the fun responsibility of organising the leisure outing during our company conference in the Hunter Valley next weekend. So here goes, and guess what, I have found this very cool wine trail around the cute historic town of Wollombi. Here are the trail details for you all to look at before we get there, including time and distances between stops. Thinking I should organise some picnic hampers as well! Very excited....Wendy
