Bethany to Angaston Trail

Bethany to Angaston Trail...discover more of the Barossa. This trail brings to you our little community from Bethany (near Tanunda) to the hills of Angaston – where we go to for that amazing shiraz, cheeky little riesling, fresh & fabulous produce straight from the farm, Friday knock-off beer – where we take our own visitors when they come to town & where we send them to rest their weary heads at night when there's no more room at home. There will always be something new here – news, events, photos, the general goings-on of the places you can find along the trail – in our own voices. Join us & be consumed by our community – the true character of the Barossa:

Justin, I see the Barossa Tourism people have established this new trail on their website, linking two villages in the Valley. Looks very engaging. We should consider something similar in our region. Give me a call to discuss....Eric
